

Monday, Sept. 21

10:00 – 10:45 Anna-Maria Brandtner (LMU Munich) The Limits of How Much We Can Care For Others - By Using AI-generated Text

10:45 – 11:30 Benjamin Mullins (KU Eichstätt-Ingolstadt) AI and loving friendship

Coffee

11:45 – 12:30 Jiří Milička (Charles University, Prague) Power, Not Consciousness: A Positive Account of the Coming Moral Status of AI

Lunch

14:00-14:45 Jesse de Jesus de Pinho Pinhal (LMU Munich) Moral status of AI: worth sacrificing human equality?

14:45 – 15:30 Tugba Yoldas (CETE-P, Prague) Should We Create Artificial Moral Patients? AI and Population Ethics

Coffee

15:45 – 16:30 Johannes Reisinger (LMU Munich) The control dilemma: either controlled by or via AI

16:45 – 17:30 Juraj Hvorecký (CETE-P, Prague) AI sycophancy and the epidemiology of beliefs

Tuesday, Sep. 22nd

10:00 – 10:45 Jurgis Karpus (KU Eichstätt-Ingolstadt) Causal versus rule-based explanations from AI

10:45-11:30 Luka Poslon (UniCath, Zagreb) Epistemic authority and epistemic justification of AI in healthcare

Coffee

11:45 – 12:30 Kristina Šekrst (University of Zagreb) To Be, or Not to Be, That Is the Assistant Turn

Lunch

14:00-14:45 Helena Drmić (Institute of Philosophy, Zagreb) What defines AI ethics? A comparative analysis of its central themes

14:45 – 15:30 Petr Kubiš (Charles University, Prague) Beyond Syntax: Assessing Cultural Coherence in Large Language Model Inference

Coffee

15:45 – 16:30 Jakub Mihálik (Institute of Philosophy, Prague) Russellian monism and the possibility of artificial consciousness

Wednesday, Sept. 23rd

10:00 – 10:45 Matej Sušnik (Institute of Philosophy, Zagreb) AI military systems and revisionist just war theory

10:45 – 11:30 Helena Lipková (Charles University, Prague) AI as a Sociotechnical Mirror

Coffee

11:45 – 12:30 Kateřina Marková (CETE-P, Prague) Beyond Lines of Visibility: The Possibilities of Unlocking Technomoral Future in Hyper-personalized Systems